THE “BORDER CZAR” KERFUFFLE / CAN HARRIS GET ON ALL STATE’S BALLOTS? /DOES TRUMP THINK HE’S CHRIST, ,DO YOU?

Original Air Date: 07.27.24

Segment.01 Hello. I’m Dr. Jerry Scheidbach, pastor of the Lighthouse Baptist Church in Santa Maria, CA, and your brain masseur. Get ready for your brain massage.

Correction, Please: Pavarotti did not sing Nessun Dorma at the Trump nomination conference—it was Christopher Macchio. Oh, and what do I think about the fact that Trump used Nessun Dorma (None Should Sleep) to finish his nomination speech?

The battle seems to be forming a front line on whether or not Kamala was “appointed Border Czar.”¹ Did he, or did he not! Followed by another question: to be nice, or to be — HONEST!

Assassination attempt: a consequence of incompetence, a product of DEI promotions, or — is it that but something else too? Was it an inside job? Well, let’s see, ABC news correspondent Thomas Pierre apparently thinks so [INSERT full 2-second clip]. Whaaaaaat?

Someone on Gutfield made an interesting observation. I didn’t catch his name — something like “s[oe9ur[9eio edpofi—” (Sounded like a Foster Brooks routine)—here is a link to the segment; maybe you can figure it out.² In order to get Kamala on the ballot in every state, she must be running as an incumbent. (Hmmm. Maybe his “passing the torch” speech really was a fall upon the sword for the team?)

Oh, wait, this just in! I've got an awesome wife—she would not let the what's his name thing go and figured it out—Chael Sonnen, a mixed martial arts fighter.³ Thank you Dove! Good work!

So, will they botch a Biden bump off like the government botched an attempt on President Trump [Insert 2-second clip]

Okay, my friends; it's time for your Brain Massage®.

[TRUTH]

So, what do I think about the fact that Trump used Nessun Dorma (Let No One Sleep) to finish his nomination speech?

I already spoke to this, but since a man I admire whose opinion I respect has come out and dismissed my opinion on this, I thought I should at least touch on it.

Let me say, upfront, I don't think it's a good idea to get off on this sort of thing — we have an election to win, and frankly, what message Trump might or might not have been sending to the Deep State is not something we need to get focused on. He laid out his agenda to go after the Deep State in the Republican Platform in a combination of statements that, if executed, will drain it to the bottom. (For my response to the new GOP Platform, see Show No. 994).

Nessun Dorma means “Let no one sleep.”⁴ It was originally written for the last scene of an opera called Turandot (which premiered in 1926, in Milan, Italy.) It was used at the end of a movie titled THE SUM OF ALL FEARS — 2002 (and also appeared less significantly in about 12 others over the years). The plot of THE SUM OF ALL FEARS was typical of a Tom Clancy novel—a neo-Nazi character attempts to get America and Russia into a nuclear war that will bring the kingdoms of the world to destruction, from which he and his fellow conspirators planned to form a globalist fascist state. The song, Nessun Dorma is sung at the end during the scenes when Jack Ryan is, let's say, dispatching the traitors to restore the hope of liberty for the world, with the climactic ending Vincero', Vincero', Vincero' — I WILL WIN, I WILL WIN, I WILL WIN — sort of like FIGHT, FIGHT, FIGHT. Right?

So, many looking at this see an oblique reference to Trump's epic battle for liberty against the globalists and the Deep State in the US trying to advance the globalist agenda.

Bongino, whom I would love to call “my friend,” dismisses this theory and explains it's just a song that Trump likes a lot. Nothing more!

Jerry says, well, I get it; we don't need to get focused on this, but I don't know! He chose “Hold On, I'm Coming,” because of its message. He chose Greenwood's great song, I'm Proud to Be An American, because of its message. You don't wrap a convention with a song that just happens to be a personal favorite of the candidate. Trump would not hold his audience, already long, simply. to force his love of Opera upon a crowd of blue-collar Greenwood fans who, probably in the main, are not that inspired by someone singing to them in Italian! — without an interpreter, to boot! And if you had the lyric in front of you, it would be as senseless as the plot of the opera—no way Trump is into competing for the affection of some rich chick at the risk of his life⁵ — even with that, the lyric in English loses a lot in translation. The only thing that provides a context in which this song could have any meaning or message to Trump's MAGA Americans is THE SUM OF ALL FEARS.

So that's it! What makes it important to us is that 1. it tells us Trump totally gets what he is up against and that we understand; 2.

⁵ https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Nessun_dorma

the stakes in this conflict are every bit as serious as the SUM OF ALL FEARS; and 3. our leader in this conflict is going forward into battle with confidence we will be victorious.

So that's it, folks! No more on Nessun Dorma!

Update on the Assassination attempt: a consequence of incompetence, a product of DEI promotions, or — is it that but something else too? Was it an inside job? Well, let's see, ABC news correspondent Thomas Pierre apparently thinks so [INSERT full 16-second clip]

Wait, run that one by me again. On ABC Good Morning America, a senior justice correspondent for ABC News is introduced by, I think it's George Stephanopolous, as Chief Justice correspondent — that's close, I guess, hmmm? Anyway, Thomas Pierre is introduced, and he solemnly says —

[INSERT 02.06]

Now, Fact Checkers to the rescue — Mr. Pierre said “gunman” not “gubnet” — haha! Just kidding! But, here, you listen to it again and make up your own mind about it!

[Insert 03.05].

Okay, this is so bizarre. Listen again, and I'll select only the key statement—here you go [INSERT 04.02].

Here is it again: [INSERT 04.02]. Another “out of your own mouth” moment? What's that? Oh, okay! The LORD JESUS once said, “Out of thine own mouth will I judge thee, thou wicked servant” (Luke 19:22).

I've seen it happen many times; someone just blurts out something that exposes their heart!

Now, I have a little time to address something that really needs to get nipped in what we call the bud — before it flowers.

To those trying to make Trump into an idol and calling him “the Saviour” — He has this to say: [INSERT 26-second statement 102.27-]

Hang on through the break, my friends. I’ll be right back!

Segment.02 Hello. Welcome back! I’m Dr. Jerry Scheidbach, pastor at the Lighthouse, your brain masseur, and Paul Revere’s lantern lighter, lighting the lamps in the church belfry arch, signaling the enemy is on the march, an enemy that would steal from us our liberty.

The battle for the “soul of America” seems at present to be forming a front line on whether or not Kamala was “appointed Border Czar.”

I did some shows on the whole Czar thing years ago. This goes back to Woodrow Wilson who appointed Bernard Baruch to head the War Industries Board — this was “a position dubbed industry czar”⁶ which was only a year after the last Russian Czar was deposed. Media freely used the term for Presidential appointments during Franklin Roosevelt’s forever reign in the Oval Office, after which the term was “retired until the Presidency of ... Nixon.”⁷ Did Nixon call his appointment the Drug Czar? No! The media did that. It was a catchy phrase, picked up from the years of communist Woodrow Wilson. George and Obama both appointed about the same number of posts that the media freely referred to as Czars. Sixty-seven, between them, 67, and each one was referred to in media and colloquially as Czars.⁸

Ironically, it’s a term despised by Communist Russians but beloved by Americans to identify citizens elevated to a place of unofficial rule over our lives. Technically, it identified the aristocratic rulers of Russia and Serbia. Who was the first to use it to speak of unelected extensions of the President's authority is something I've not been able to fathom—or get to the bottom of!

Anyway, the argument that Kamala was never officially declared by Biden to be the Border Czar is disingenuous. The lame stream media has been using this term as far back as Woodrow Wilson, during Nixon's administration, and virtually all the president's that followed him down to Bush and Obama where it reached a peak, and then also today.

You've probably seen the video montage showing MSM referring to Kamala Harris as the "Border Czar" repeatedly, juxtaposed to the present echo chamber effort to erase that history. We all know that the MSM receive their talking points from, well, let's just say Soros, and then every outlet is on the same page, sometimes literally parroting the same message line. Here is an example of that at work, first, repeatedly affirming her role as appointed by Biden to be the BORDER CZAR, contrasted by now as they try to rewrite history right in front of the people who actually LIVED IT!

Right? It's one thing to try to rewrite history in the context of a people who were not there to live it — but these yahoos are so bold that they attempt to rewrite history that we just finished LIVING!

[INSERT MSM.67]

So we've been calling Presidential appointments to lead in the execution of Presidential policy Czars for a very, very long time. This is, of course, NOT THE POINT. It's a clever DISTRACTION from the point. Let's quibble over the semantics and not her record.

IT DOES NOT MATTER WHAT YOU CALL HER — SHE WAS GIVEN THE JOB TO "STEM THE MIGRATION" AND THEY FAILED!

Okay, look at this. Here is a link to the full statement on Biden's appointment. View it, pay attention while you listen, and then make up your own mind. I'll use some excerpts from this—IN CONTEXT—to reveal the truth about this controversy.

Listen to Biden's own words when he appointed Harris to stem the migration to our borders:

I've got some other work to do here today, so I'll finish this Saturday night, 8 PMish, on Rumble, Facebook, Twitter, LinkedIn and RESTREAM. Go to brainmassage.net and subscribe to receive notifications.

The press conference when Biden announced Kamala's appointment to lead the immigration problem is very interesting! A lot is revealed that you'll want to know about going into this battle over the border.

Chael Sonnen, a mixed martial arts fighter, guested on Gutfield and made a few interesting observations.⁹: He said that in order to get Kamala on the ballot in every state, she must be running as an incumbent. (And I thought, Hmmmm. Maybe his "passing the torch" speech really was a fall upon the sword for the team?)

Speaker Johnson also brought this up in an interview on CNN.¹⁰

So, what's this about? According to BallotPedia, Georgia's deadline to file for the 2024 election is July 9. Joe posted his letter dated July 21 on X declaring his resignation from the race. That's 12 days late! His televised statement from the White House was on July 24. That's 15 days late!

By the way, is that accepted protocol for a President to declare his withdrawal by posting on X, formerly Twitter?

It will be interesting to discover that they filed for Kamala on or before July 9, twelve days before he announced his resignation from the race; you know, just in case!

Georgia is the only state where this could be a problem. But Georgia is well known for kicking law to the curb and doing whatever the Democrats want to do. Ah Ha! Here you go. CNN surveyed all 50 States and found 48 green-lighted the switch. Only Florida and Montana have not responded to CNN's query. Oh, so Georgia is all in? Okay, trust your Brain Masseur to dig into such things.

Chael argues that the only way to get Kamala on every State ballot would be for her to run as an incumbent President. This is based on the truth that at least one state has a law requiring filing a nominee before July 9, and the general agreement he says all States have committed to that an incumbent running for office will qualify to be on the Ballot. That's the basis for Chael's comment—suggesting Biden will have to die to get Kamala on the Georgia Ballot.

After an emergency involving Biden interrupted travel plans requiring the plane — NOT AIRFORCE ONE, BY THE WAY????— to make a mad dash to Nevada with hospital in full alert and staff on hand—then, mysteriously, the whole thing was called off and he was flown to the East Coast??? Then we see these pics of Biden where it's like the dude grew about three inches??? Yep, it's clone talk again! No one knows how to fuel conspiracies like the US Government.

So, is it true that Kamala needs to be President before the election to ensure she is on the Georgia ballot?

Well, like I said, never underestimate Georgia's ability to ignore the law and break the rules. Apparently, Georgia has no problem certifying Kamala for their ballot. That's what they told CNN. So how did satan's servant Brad Raffensperger's office rule on this? Raffensperger's chief operating officer issued this statement: "As the Democrats have not had a convention, there is no ‘nominee’ to replace.”¹¹ Well, bless your heart, that’s really cute. My parents met while living in Georgia, and dad moved us to Katella, Georgia, where we built a house on a parcel between the houses where my dad and my mom grew up! So, I know something about Southern ways! And this is the sort of thing you say to someone that you despise who did something you wish to dismiss as irrelevant. But it does not mean that in CA, so!

Hey, Mr. Raffensperger, the Demoncratic Convention is scheduled for August 19-22.¹² I’ll have to check my calendar, but I think that’s AFTER THE GEORGIA DEADLINE FOR FILING. So much for the rule of law in Georgia. Yeah! The Devil went down to Georgia and moved in! Remember 2020! Like “Remember the Alamo,” a battle lost precipitating a war that was finally won.

By the way, I don’t bring up this Kamala on the Ballot thing because I hoped it would disqualify Kamala. In truth, I continue to doubt she will end up being the nominee. I think we are going to wish she had been. We’ll see!

Even with Obama’s late endorsement—waited for Kamala to make some assurances about who will actually be running the White House? Just sayin’!

I bring it up to illustrate how Democrats disregard LAW. To them, it’s only a tool to get something done, and that has nothing to do with JUSTICE.

This is characteristic of the entire Party—but it’s also present in some elements within the Republican Party — like Raffensperger
